

Power Lines are noisy enough now and radiating too much. Allowing broadband will make amateur radio almost impossible. Then where is our emergency communications. Government agencies have shown they can't do the job. It still takes the Hams. How many drills do you have to have to prove what history has recorded. Hams do the job. For some reason you want to kill off amateur radio. I DON'T GET IT.